PSYC 2740: Peer/Self Assessment

Milestone :

As you evaluate your own contributions as well as your team members' contributions to this milestone, think about the tasks assigned to yourself and others and how well you/them completed those tasks. You might also consider how well you and others communicated, held others accountable, and truly put your best foot forward.

Here are some tasks that you may have divided among yourselves during the project:
- Reading the project description in detail and making notes of questions/ideas
- Conducting research on instances of cognition
- Conducting literature searches
- Evaluating research articles
- Reading and summarizing articles (QALMRI)
- Identifying background information from course readings/website
- Working on connecting ideas across different sources
- Working on project plan/outline
- Working on video/poster design/organization
- Other possible tasks relevant to putting together this assignment
